Craft Being Put Out of Commission as a Result of Marine Strike

The United States Shipping Board and private owners today began to make good their threat to lay up their vessels rather than concede the demands of striking marine workers.

The firm of Charles H. Strachan & Son, of New York, instructed the master of their steamer, the Hay State, held at Providence, to discharge all officers and put the vessel out of commission. Captain guards have been sworn in as deputy United States marshals and will be placed aboard the vessels if necessary.

COMPLETE LIST.
Complete list of shipping in the harbor, with the exception of excursion boats and one fleet of tug boats, will be out today, when the crews of the fleet and those of the United States Shipping Board will be put out of commission.

These vessels operate about twice a week, and there were about 120 men who worked out. These officials were placed over the property of the strike, which is proceeding in an exceedingly orderly manner, and with complete assistance on the part of the seafaring men.

Only one fleet of tug boats is still in the harbor.

Auto Man Admits He Is an "Ignorant Idealist"

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 16.—Henry Ford called himself a "murderer" on the witness stand in the trial of his $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Tribune today.

You characterized everybody who advocated preparedness as doing it for the purpose of making money out of it, didn't you?" Attorney Stevenson asked him.

"I advocated preparedness," Ford answered.

"I was a murderer, you said," stated Stevenson.

"No, I advocated preparedness after we got into the war," Ford declared.

"I am talking about 1915 and 1916," the lawyer said.

"I was a murderer just as well as anybody else," the witness replied.

"You were a murderer,"

"I was a party to it. One of its authors," Ford said, referring to the manufacture of munitions at his plant.

"One of the helpers of murder," Stevenson asked.

"Yes," replied Ford.

"You mean that the men who were advocating preparedness in 1915 and 1916 were murderers, like you were in 1917?"

"No," Ford said, "we were not in the war."

WILSON SPEECH RECALLED.
A speech made by President Wilson in Kansas City, when he made his tour of the country in the interest of preparedness, was read. It urged and exhorted the martial spirit of the entire country. The purpose in doing it was to bring it up in the trial was to show

LEPER TAPED AGAIN LARGE AGAIN

Boston Man, With Dread Disease, Escapes From Philadelphia Authorities

Nicholas Foniadakis, the runaway Boston leper, is at large again.

He escaped from the Philadelphia authorities while steps were being taken to return him to the Boston Health Department and is believed to be on his way back to this city.

Foniadakis has many friends here, who, the police fear, would in their ignorance shield him and enable him to remain at large, a menace to thousands. The leper was detained in the Southampton Detention Hospital when the nature of his disease was discovered, and escaped more than 2 months ago, defying all efforts to capture him until a few days ago.

A sharp lookout will be kept for the fugitive disease-carrier, not only in Boston, but throughout the country. The second escape has aroused medical authorities all over the East to demand strict guarding of such men as Foniadakis.

SEIZURE OF 'L' BY STATE IS URGED

Conferences between representatives of the Boston Carmen's Union and the trustees of the Boston Elevated were in progress today in an eleventh-hour attempt to stave off a strike.

At one stage of the discussion the union heads withdrew to consider in privacy the terms suggested.

The beginning of the conferences, the appeal of the Boston Citizens' Committee to Governor Couligue that the State take over the Elevated and run it, and a new effort at arbitration by State Arbitrator Charles G. Wood are the latest developments in the strike situation.

A statement as to the progress of the conferences will be made later. The union was represented in the meeting by James H. Vahey, counsel, and International Vice-Presidents J. M. Reardon of Worcester and Thomas Shinn of Boston.

Arbitrator Wood's new effort to mediate took the form of a letter to Matthew J. Higgins of the carmen's union, and others, in which he urged that the union "stand by its contract" and await the award of the War Labor Board.

representing twenty-four civic organizations, sent a delegation to wait in person on Governor Couligue and ask him to either take over the Elevated or else institute other relief measures. The charging of a cent a mile, the total fare not in excess of eight cents, was one of the alternatives suggested by the committee.

RESERVE HAD FAITH CHANGE.
James H. Vahey, counsel for the carmen, telegraphed Secretary Lauck of the Labor Board that the union accepted his telegram of Tuesday evening in which it was broadly intimated that the union had broken

MRS. CROKER NOT AN INDIAN PRINCESS, HER STEPCHILDREN DECLARE

THE GIRL WHO WAS IN SUIT

Cabaret and Chorus Singer
Fascinated Her Father, the Tammany Chief, they Say

New York, July 15.—Fascination and career of Mrs. Richard Croker, Sr., who once proclaimed herself Keweenaw Kalamathay, Sequoyan, a Cherokee Princess, are being investigated in the suits pressed by Howard J. Howard and Ethel Croker, sons and daughters among their father, the late Tammany chieftain.

Allegations are that she who became Mrs. Croker's second wife under the name of Bula Bente Edmonds, caused an estrangement between her husband and the children by his first wife that induced him to decline to fulfill a contract pertaining her estate of more than $250,000.

Evidence presented for protection in court, in case Mr. Croker, Sr., persists in denying testimony for the children, is as follows:

That Mrs. Croker, Sr., was never an Indian princess nor due the name Indian blood.

SAME IN CABARET.
That she was born in Oklahoma, of Holbrook parentage.

That she introduced herself in New York as Bula Edmonds, a singer, making her debut at Chatterbox Broadway restaurant in the cabaret.

That while at Chatterbox and later at the Holbrook restaurant, she was intimately known as "Little Bula."

That as Bula Edmonds she met Mr. Croker, through a mutual friend, introduced him and within a few weeks after the death of the first Mrs. Croker became his bride.

A lawyer and intimate friend of the Croker family said:

"The real situation in the family date from the marriage of Mr. Croker, Sr., to Bula Edmonds in November, 1914. Richard J. Howard and Ethel, whose married name is Smith, stood by their mother when she and Mr. Croker, Sr., became alienated many years ago and until she died in Austin in September, 1914. They were deeply grieved over the break, coming as it did almost simultaneously with the tragic death of Edward, the second son, in an automobile accident.

They were intensely shocked to learn of their father's decision to marry to a woman they did not know and of whom they never heard with her several names appeared in the newspapers.

WEDDED IN STRAIT HOME.
Mr. Croker counted no number of his family. He merely notified a few of his political friends that he was to take a new wife at the end of Nathan street, on November 22, 1914, pleaded them to accept and tried to put Mr. Croker, Sr., under bond to not reveal the applicant for a license.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Croker, Sr., went to Palm Beach for the winter. Neither saw the son and daughter for a long time, on their return to New York in May, 1915, Mr. Croker was informed the estate of his first wife had been appraised at $250,000 and that all but $100 had been bequeathed to the children.

Mr. Croker, Sr., now Richard Croker, Jr., it was agreed that if Richard Croker, Jr., assigned his share of the estate to his son and daughter, the father would pay a similar amount from his own pocket to Howard and Ethel.

Richard, Jr., made good his contract. He repeatedly bequeathed his father to fulfill his. Whenever Mr. Howard or Ethel called upon the father they invariably found him in the company of Richard Croker, Jr., and failed to get an interview with him. Mr. Croker kept putting his children off until he sailed for his last trip.

SINKING SHIP S TOWED INTO PORT German Brides for Yankee Soldiers? Raus Mit 'Em!

Berlin, July 16.—The Pan-German newspaper Deutsche Zeitung is raving over the report that 130 soldiers of the American army of occupation had applied for permission to marry German girls.

Washington, July 16.—The U. S. S. Allison, the Shipping Board steamship reported in radio messages last night to be sinking, today was towed to Delaware Breakwater by the U. S. S. Lakewood, according to a wireless message to the Navy Department.

The message from the Lakewood stated that the Allison was almost filled with water.

Two vessels were sent to the rescue. The Allison, off the Long Island coast, the Navy Department announced today, the U. S. S. S. Lakewood, and the U. S. S. S. Lakewood.

According to radio messages from the Allison which were picked up by three ships along the coast, the ship was in trouble under her own power, but that she was filling rapidly and they to sink at any time.

The Allison was brought to anchor in Delaware breakwater shortly before noon, according to a message to the Navy Department this afternoon.

The Allison, which was an ex-military cargo, left Portland, Me., Sunday for Norfolk, Va., in command of Captain Daniel S. Brown. She was taken on a cargo of coal there for a launch November 5 last.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Party leaders here today presented a question second in the interest of the Senate today.

Two movements were under way to secure information upon which to reduce the cost of living. Senate Democrats plan an exhaustive hearing on two bills, designed for control of the cost of living.
